

Engaging Lectures - Resources

16 Dec 2015

The session was led by Dr David Smith, Senior Lecturer in Biochemistry at Sheffield Hallam.

He is three times winner of their Inspirational Teacher award.

In this session on student engagement, David addressed the challenges and opportunities facing all lecturers and suggested ways we can make better use of the resources we already have.

Check out David's storify account of the session for a complete summary of the session together with related resources relating to lecturing / student engagement and to David himself.
