Course Overview

Aims

The aims of the programme are to:

- Develop critical knowledge and a systematic understanding of major concepts and theoretical approaches in social policy
- Develop a coherent and detailed awareness of the social context relating to the discipline and the relationships between individuals, groups and social institutions
- Enable a critical appreciation of social problems and of social policy responses to them
- Demonstrate an understanding of globalisation and demographic change in relation to social policy responses
- Demonstrate conceptual knowledge of the origin and development of welfare institutions and the socio-demographic context in which they operate

- Enable students to think critically about the processes through which societies are governed and social policies created
- Offer students opportunities to shape the direction of their studies through choice of option modules and dissertation topic
- Enable students to develop a range of personal, cognitive, social, academic and employability skills relevant to their intellectual, vocational and personal development
- Provide a curriculum supported by scholarship and a research culture that promotes breadth and depth of intellectual enquiry and debate
- Create a learning environment that is receptive to the needs and views of students and encourages them to achieve their full potential.

Course Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Identify, critically examine and evaluate a broad range of theories, concepts, approaches and problems in social policy.
2. Critically apply your social policy knowledge to real world issues to provide an analysis of individuals, groups and social institutions.
3. Appreciate and critically debate the historical, social and political backgrounds of a range of social policies and use this context to apply critical understanding policy responses at a range of levels.
4. Apply a range of research techniques, including digital scholarship and other technology-rich methods, in order to research and solve a particular problem.
5. Reflect on your own values and background and in so doing develop a critical awareness of the wider social world and the global context within which you live and the different perspectives that exist to explain these contexts.
6. Evidence that you have become an independent, reflexive and socially aware learner through considerable self-guided study of social policy problems.

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The Social Policy tutors are aware that different learning and teaching activities suit different students' learning styles and are committed to the use of a variety of teaching practices in order to promote active learning and student engagement on the course. The team is committed to using blended teaching and learning activities and a variety of assessment practices in order to promote active learning and student engagement on the course, as well as prepare them for the world as an alumni.

The learning and teaching activities on this course are broad and varied. They include the following: lectures, seminars, workshops, library work, seminar and workshop preparation, film (and other media) showings, external speakers, online learning, fieldwork, group activities and interactive classroom learning tools. Formal teaching might also take place via synchronous and asynchronous teaching inputs with guided learning opportunities for students both as individuals and in groups (where appropriate). More informally, the team also provides one-to-one support via individual meetings to discuss feedback or assignments. A particular feature of the course is that its modules are drawn from a variety of courses where some modules offer opportunities to provide students with experience and confidence in presenting their work in a more formal, large-scale, environment.

Seminars and workshops are environments in which students are encouraged to debate, question and argue over the chosen topic for discussion in so doing students develop the skills of critical questioning and thinking as well as the confidence to express their informed views. Collaborative work amongst students which is presented more formally as the course progresses is an integral part of the course and aimed at developing students' skills and confidence in the presentation of knowledge and the self. Students are encouraged to use appropriate digital tools for collaboration.

As far as assessment is concerned a range of assessment tools are used reflecting both the diversity of knowledge and skills being assessed, and the need to provide students with a range of means of demonstrating their achievement of Learning Outcomes, assessment methods include written assignments, group presentations, learning logs, and reports. In order to assist students in managing their assessment workload, assessments are arranged over an agreed period of time by module tutors.

All students on the course are provided with a Course Handbook and a Module Handbook for each module they study. The module handbook provides students with details relating to:

- Module learning outcomes
- Programme of lectures and seminars
- Recommended reading
- Assessment details and submission dates
- Tutor contact details

Your Modules

This information is correct for students progressing through the programme within standard timescales. PT students will be supported by the course team to determine an appropriate selection of modules from the level for each year of study. Students who are required to undertake repeat study may be taught alternate modules which meet the overall course learning outcomes. Details of module delivery will be provided in your timetable.

Learning Support

If you have a question or a problem relating to your course, your Course Administrator is there to help you. Course Administrators work closely with academic staff and can make referrals to teaching staff or to specialist professional services as appropriate. They can give you a confirmation of attendance letter, and a transcript. You may also like to contact your Course Rep or the Students' Union Advice team for additional support with course-related questions.

If you have any questions about life at our University in general, call into or contact the Student Advice Hub on either campus. This team, consisting of recent graduates and permanent staff, are available to support you throughout your time here. They will make sure you have access to and are aware of the support, specialist services, and opportunities our University provides. There is a Student Advice Hub on the ground floor of the Rose Bowl at City Campus and one in Campus Central at Headingley. You can also find the team in the Gateway in the Leslie Silver Building at City Campus. Email enquiries may be directed to studentadvicehub@leedsbeckett.ac.uk.

Within MyBeckett you will see two tabs (Support and Opportunities) where you can find online information and resources for yourselves. The Support tab gives you access to details of services available to give you academic and personal support. These include Library Services, the Students' Union, Money advice, Disability advice and support, Wellbeing, International Student Services and Accommodation. There is also an A-Z of Support Services, and access to online appointments/registration.

The Opportunities tab is the place to explore the options you have for jobs, work placements, volunteering, and a wide range of other opportunities. For example, you can find out here how to get help with your CV, prepare for an interview, get a part-time job or voluntary role, take part in an international project, or join societies closer to home.
