Course Overview

Aims

The Ethical Leadership Commission was established because of concerns expressed by ASCL members and others about the lack of guiding principles for ethical leadership in education. The resulting Framework for Ethical Leadership in Education provides the profession with the following principles to support leaders in their decision-making and in calling out unethical behaviour:

www.ascl.org.uk/Help-and-Advice/Leadership-and-governance/Strategic-planning/Framework-for-ethical-leadership-in-education.

The course aims to provide a learning environment which places intersectional analyses of education, leadership and ethics at its centre. This will be underpinned by research training in qualitative and quantitative methods to enable students to be confident researchers in the areas of education, leadership and ethics in a variety of societal and professional contexts, including education. Students will also be encouraged to take a global outlook on issues to do with education, leadership and ethics by analysing and comparing ethical educational leadership case studies from a wide range of national and international contexts. Students who are practitioners will be provided with the opportunity to complete a dissertation based on their work context.

Course Learning Outcomes

On completion of the programme students should have provided evidence of being able to:

1	Demonstrate in-depth, specialist knowledge and mastery of theoretical and conceptual frameworks relevant to Ethical Education Leadership
2	Exhibit mastery in the exercise of generic and subject-specific intellectual abilities
3	Exhibit an ability to critically analyse methodologies and methods applicable to their own research, including practice-based research, and advanced scholarship
4	Demonstrate independent learning in critically and creatively evaluating current issues, research, policy, practice and advanced scholarship in Ethical Education Leadership globally
5	Independently and proactively formulate ideas and hypotheses which are developed, implemented and critically evaluated
6	Use a range of ethically informed qualitative and quantitative approaches to data gathering and analysis in educational contexts to undertake an independent research project

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The programme will develop communities of practice through distance teaching and learning. Most modules will utilise seminars for group discussion, presentations, feedback and collaborative learning and will be led by academic staff with relevant research expertise. We will work with our Online Learning Tutors (OLTs) to ensure that course materials are presented appropriately and that students are actively engaged in online learning through the creation of online communities, which are actively supported by academic staff.

Each student will be allocated an Academic Advisor who will be able to support them in their academic work throughout the modules through structured and responsive coaching tutorials.

All modules will be delivered and facilitated by research active staff who will be able to scaffold links between research and practice and thereby help students to construct their own lines of enquiry and knowledge through the undertaking of a dissertation.

The dissertation will act as a Learning Pathway for those students interested in doctoral studies.

Your Modules

This information is correct for students progressing through the programme within standard timescales. Option modules listed are indicative of a typical year. There may be some variance in the availability of option modules. Students who are required to undertake repeat study may be taught alternate modules which meet the overall course learning outcomes. Details of module delivery will be provided in your timetable.

Assessment Balance and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities

The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and typical option module choices undertaken by students on the course. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director but applicants should note that the specific option choices students make may influence both assessment and workload balance.

A standard module equates to 200 notional learning hours, which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, any embedded placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than one component of assessment.

Assessment

On this course students will be assessed predominantly by coursework. At the end of the course, there is a dissertation module which will require the production of a dissertation of 12 thousand words to 15 thousand words.

Workload

Overall Workload
Teaching, Learning and Assessment	184 hours
Independent Study	1616 hours
Placement	0 hours

Learning Support

If you have a question or a problem relating to your course, your Course Administrator is there to help you. Course Administrators work closely with academic staff and can make referrals to teaching staff or to specialist professional services as appropriate. They can give you a confirmation of attendance letter, and a transcript. You may also like to contact your Course Rep or the Students' Union Advice team for additional support with course-related questions.

Student Services

If you have any questions about life at University, call into our Student Services Centre at either campus or contact Student Advice directly. This team, consisting of trained officers and advisers are available to support you throughout your time here. They will make sure you have access to and are aware of the support, specialist services, and opportunities our University provides. They also work on a wide range of projects throughout the year all designed to enhance your student experience and ensure you make the most of your time with us. Student Advice are located in the Student Services Centre in the Leslie Silver Building at City Campus and on the ground floor of the Priestley Building at Headingley Campus. The team can also be contacted via email at studentadvice@leedsbeckett.ac.uk, telephone on 0113 812 3000, or by accessing our online chat link, available on the student homepage.

Support and opportunities

Within MyBeckett you will see two tabs (Support and Opportunities) where you can find online information and resources for yourselves. The Support tab gives you access to details of services available to give you academic and personal support. These include Library Services, the Students' Union, Money advice, Disability advice and support, Wellbeing, International Student Services and Accommodation. There is also an A-Z of Support Services, and access to online appointments/registration. The Opportunities tab is the place to explore the options you have for jobs, work placements, volunteering, and a wide range of other opportunities. For example, you can find out here how to get help with your CV, prepare for an interview, get a part-time job or voluntary role, take part in an international project, or join societies closer to home.
