Course Overview

Aims

The MBA Graduate course is aimed at students with some experience in an organisation or business who wish to progress to junior management roles. This emphasis will allow the student cohort to be more vibrant in terms of the in-class discussions and also benefit their collegiality.

The course aims to equip the students with taught knowledge from various subject standpoints to form a coherent view of the organisation and understand how joined up thinking will enable an organisation to reap higher benefits. This critical thinking, in addition to being able to act independently or working in a group, will enable students to perform well in their future careers.

The course tends to attract an international cohort with participation from India, Africa, the Middle East and Americas. This cross-cultural experience together with taught knowledge will have the following generic aims:

1. To provide knowledge of various businesses and how their interactions with other businesses and economies vary based on fluctuations in global economic and political landscapes.
2. To provide avenues to specialise in an area of business by using an option module and placement or project in that area.
3. To provide a framework for junior managers to plan for future careers based on skills gained prior to the course and on the course to aid placement.
4. To provide an opportunity to gain a three month placement in their area of choice to practice the knowledge and skills gained on the course and enhance their career prospects.
5. To facilitate development of personal and team working skills to aid leadership and entrepreneurial journey.

Course Learning Outcomes

At the end of the PG Certificate level, students will be able to:

1	Critically evaluate and justify current information and create new connections between theory, method and strategies to be applied
2	Work collaboratively with individuals and groups in varied settings with awareness of process and outcomes in relation to a trainee manager

At the end of the PG Diploma level, students will have achieved all of the above plus be able to:

3	Apply skills, both theoretical and practical, to contemporary organisations and provide solutions to underperforming areas identified
4	Develop skills for entrepreneurship by examining problems and issues critically, using theoretical perspectives of the cognate area

At the end of the MBA course, students will have achieved all of the above plus:

5	Critically evaluate organisational performance through research and communicate improvements by working in teams with clients/management

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The philosophy of the course is applied in various ways, within modules studied, through a range of learning and teaching activities. Some module-specific examples are extracted below:

- The Marketing Dynamics module aims to develop critical analysis skills within students that could help them evaluate the marketplace and wider marketing environment using a range of relative theoretical frameworks. A range of academic and practitioner based publications including journal articles and case studies are made available for students to review throughout the course of delivery of the module. Students are also encouraged regularly to contribute to in-class discussions on a case; and to draw out evaluation and analysis for group discussions.
- Operations and Logistics Management module enables students to learn about operations management and how knowledge of logistics can be utilised to plan supply chains for improved performance.
- The Becoming a Master Manager module aims to enable students to review and explore key topic areas in the study of Organisational Behaviour by synthesising a range of relative theoretical approaches to Organisational Behaviour, Motivation and Management. Learning will be achieved through a combination of lectures, tutorials, seminars and practical activities using multimedia tools, techniques and group exercises, role-play and discussions. Practical activities (undertaken individually and in groups) include work related case studies and role-plays.
- The Strategic Management module aids reflective practice, evaluating critical incidents for personal development and creative problem solving.
- The Financial analysis module aims to develop key decision-making skills by applying accounting and financial techniques to assist in auditing and planning at management level.
- The Technology Entrepreneurship module aims to equip students with ways to create new business ideas and evaluate them through a critical analysis of their business plan and its requirement for resources in the first five years of its inception.
- The MBA Work Placement / MBA Consultancy Project provides students with the opportunity to directly apply management theories and techniques to examine organisational issues (a real-time project with a client organisation), with the support of a individual/group academic supervisor.

MBA Graduate students often aim to either join their family businesses, start up their own business or join an organisation as graduate (early career) managers. Therefore the course utilises teaching methods that allow students to develop these skills to build on their limited work experience. MBA Graduate students have seminars that involve understanding and conceptualisation of theoretical frameworks and then application is considered at a fundamental level within organisational context using range of case studies.

Assessment Balance and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities

On this course students will be assessed predominantly by coursework with some practical assessments. At the end of the course, students may choose between the MBA Consultancy Project or an industry placement. The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and a sample of option module choices undertaken by a typical student. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director.

A standard module equates to 200 notional learning hours, which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than 1 component of assessment.

Overall Workload
Teaching, Learning and Assessment	300 hours
Independent Study	1500 hours
Placement	0 hours (option to take Work Placement module)
