Course Overview

Aims

The aims of the programme are to:

Develop a critical appreciation of the theoretical traditions of criminology and psychology and an in-depth knowledge of contemporary criminological and psychological theories and research. The core and option modules available throughout the course will enable students to understand how criminology and psychology provide multifaceted, interdisciplinary explanations and explorations of a variety of criminological issues.

Course Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

Knowledge and Understanding

1. Critically examine a broad range of criminological and psychological theories, concepts, and constructs.
2. Apply a range of criminological and psychological principles to real world issues as they present within a contemporary criminal justice context.
3. Identify and utilise appropriate research strategies for data collection and problem solving.

Professional Skills

4. Communicate a range of multifaceted information in relation to crime and criminal actions effectively and accurately to a variety of audiences.
5. Demonstrate an ability to work with others, achieve joint outcomes, and independent and creative thinking.
6. Demonstrate skills of independent learning.
7. To recognise and respect diverse views of others.
8. Reflect on their own knowledge and practice.

9. Identify and work towards personal and professional goals.

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The course uses a range of teaching and assessment methods to support active learning and student engagement, recognising the diverse learning needs of students. Formal teaching takes place via a range of methods, which may include formal lectures, seminars, practical sessions, and workshops. Lectures and seminars for core modules will be delivered in person. On some occasions sessions involving guest speakers may be delivered online. Some elective modules may be delivered via blended learning. Additional learning resources will also be provided online via our Virtual Learning Environment.

Your Modules

This information is correct for students progressing through the programme within standard timescales. Part time students will be supported by the course team to determine an appropriate selection of modules from the level for each year of study. Option modules listed are indicative of a typical year. There may be some variance in the availability of option modules. Students who are required to undertake repeat study may be taught alternate modules which meet the overall course learning outcomes. Details of module delivery will be provided in your timetable.

Assessment Balance and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities by Level

The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and typical option module choices undertaken by students on the course. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director but applicants should note that the specific option choices students make may influence both assessment and workload balance.

A standard 40 credit module equates to 400 notional learning hours (a standard 20 credit module equates to 200 notional learning hours), which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, any embedded placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than one component of assessment.

Assessment

Level 4 is assessed by coursework predominantly, with some practical assessments.

Level 5 is assessed by coursework predominantly, with some practical assessments.

Level 6 is assessed by coursework predominantly, with some practical assessments and exams.

Workload

Overall Workload	Level 4	Level 5	Level 6
Teaching, Learning and Assessment	202 hours	208 hours	162 hours
