Sandwich or Other 'In Year' Work Placement Information

Summary

Students have the option to undertake a full placement year between levels 5 and 6. An elective module at H6 is then taken to report on the placement year.

Students will have the opportunity to spend a year on a paid work placement. The University's Placement Office will help them find a placement in any aspect of business, in private or public sector organisations. The recent experience of students has been that they return with good quality references, a network of professional contacts and a greatly enhanced motivation and application to study and achieve in their final year of studies. A placement year is also a good enhancement to a CV. If students elect to do a placement they will be assessed, and this will count as a Level 6 elective module.

Length

48 weeks

Location

Students are usually placed with various companies in the Leeds region; however placements may be undertaken nationally or internationally.

Professional Accreditation or Recognition Associated with the Course

Professional Body

The Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD)

Accreditation/ Recognition Summary

The course is mapped against CIPD's intermediate standards. This gives access to the CIPD's Associate level of Membership. As such it is highly vocational; equipping graduates to function autonomously in a generalist, operational HR adviser capacity.

Successful graduates of this course may progress onto the MSc HRM or the PG Diploma in HRM which are both mapped to the CIPD's advanced diploma, essential for upgrading to the level of Chartered Member.

Course Accreditation Period: 03/10/17 – ongoing

CIPD accreditation is increasingly required for anyone seeking to forge a career as a human resource management professional in both the private and public sector. Members are recognised as having the knowledge and attributes needed to manage people within the organisation. BSc Human Resource Management with Business leads to accreditation and associate membership at CIPD Level 5. The student must pass all of the CIPD accredited modules on their programme.

Course Overview

Aims

The aims of the programme are to:

- provide an academic and vocationally oriented curriculum which develops a fundamental knowledge and understanding of the structures, concepts and processes involved in the management and administration of domestic and international organisations and the changing frameworks within which they operate, with specific reference to the management of people.

- provide a stimulating learning environment, which fosters a critical, reflective, and challenging approach to the study of business, progressively set in an HR context, incorporating practical teaching and learning methods and mirroring workplace situations likely to be encountered in the management of people.
- provide opportunities for students from different nationalities and cultures to work together in teams, thus developing cross cultural capability and global outlook.
- provide opportunities to develop students' capability to take positive initiatives, respond effectively to new ideas, adapt to changing circumstances, and address multi-faceted problems with an open mind.
- offer students some degree of specialisation in the management of people in preparation for their career which will enhance employability prospects for them as graduates.
- facilitate the development of a range of skills and values which allow students to use their talents to the full in achieving their personal and career aspirations.

Course Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1	Develop self-awareness, learning agility, personal, professional and academic competences in a context appropriate to HR management and business, education and career preparation.
2	Evaluate global and ethical HR issues facing organisations when formulating and implementing strategies.
3	Critically evaluate, understand and synthesise a range of HR and business theories and techniques in the context of local and global business situations.
4	Acquire appropriate analytical and problem-solving skills for the application of HR and business theory and techniques into contemporary local and global business practice.

5	Develop the ability to critically evaluate evidence, arguments and assumptions to reach sound judgements and communicate them effectively.

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The core theme of globally orientated modules of the BSc (Hons) HRM and Business course encourages and enables students to be curious about others and engage in respectful discussion, debate, collaborative work and research, with other people and to explore their ways of viewing the world. A varied diet of assessment types across the modules making up the course ensures fairness in assessment through and across the levels of the course for students' different learning preferences, learning styles, abilities and disabilities.

Your Modules

Assessment Balance and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities by Level

The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and typical option module choices undertaken by students on the course. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director but applicants should note that the specific option choices students make may influence both assessment and workload balance.

A standard module equates to 200 notional learning hours, which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, any embedded placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than one component of assessment.

Assessment

Level 4 is assessed predominantly by coursework, with some examinations and practical assessments.

Level 5 is assessed predominantly by coursework, with some practical assessments.

Level 6 is assessed predominantly by coursework, with some practical assessments.

Workload

Overall Workload	Level 4	Level 5	Level 6
Teaching, Learning and Assessment	240 hours	248 hours	210 hours
