Standard regulations apply to this course except where noted below.

Fitness to Practise

The course is authorised to use the University Fitness to Practise Policy and Procedure. Details can be found here. Students are expected to act in a professional manner at all times in line with the Policy.

All assessments to be passed and pass/fail assessments

- All components of assessments must be passed at the threshold pass or a pass for a pass/fail marking to pass a module.
- All components of assessment and all modules must be passed to achieve the award.

Placements

The placement requirements and minimum hours for placements must also be met to pass the course.

Attendance

Under the University's Academic Engagement Policy, students are expected to attend all scheduled sessions on the course. Also, the course has a minimum attendance requirement at the University of 95%, which equates to 28.5 days' attendance across the 30 study days of the academic year. A study day requires attendance on all modules and attendance is recorded separately for each module. This attendance ensures students meet the minimum contact hours required by the BACP, in order to achieve a BACP-accredited qualification. Details are provided in the Course Handbook.

Recognition of Prior Learning

Exemption from academic credit or placement hours through any prior learning (RPL/RPEL/RPCL/credit transfer) is not allowed.

Period of Registration/Normal Durations of Periods of Study

Currently the period of registration for the courses mean that students have a maximum of 5 years of secure 100 hours of client time. However, the staff team and BACP feel this is too long and potentially constitutes a fitness to practise concern.

The time frame has been reduced from 5 to 3 years after teaching has ended as the absolute maximum time allowed for students to secure the 100 hours practicum element of these programmes.

Course Overview

Aims

The aims of the programme are to:

- Provide an education and training in therapeutic counselling and psychotherapy, which meets the standards for professional accreditation.
- Offer a systematic and thorough education and training in the Relational approach to therapeutic counselling and psychotherapy.

Students gain a comprehensive understanding of Relational theory and practice and learn how to apply therapeutic counselling and psychotherapy skills with clients. Through supervised practice, which follows the BACP core curriculum, students identify their strengths and areas for development, ensuring they become capable and self-reflective practitioners.

Course learning outcomes

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1	Work within professional standards, incorporating digital literacy required of professional therapeutic practitioners
2	Work competently within both the theory and practice of the Relational approach to counselling, working with complex presentations and problem solving with other professionals in the field.
3	Demonstrate a reflexive understanding of, and an ability to, integrate a range of theoretical approaches into a coherent model of practice.
4	Work with the knowledge, skills and ethical awareness of a reflective practitioner, capable of problem-solving professional issues and ethical dilemmas
5	Work ethically and competently with both diversity and anti-oppressive practice, noting that stereotypes and various meanings are socially constructed.

Teaching and Learning Activities

Summary

The teaching and learning on the course are delivered in person on campus.

Learning and teaching activities consist of a mix of tutorials, group and individual activities, workshops and case study analysis, where students are given opportunities to relate the material covered to the workplace. The teaching and learning style is student-centred and an inclusive environment is created in which students learn by sharing their own and their peers' experience through the development of critical reflection, dialogue and debate. The group agrees a code of conduct, which respects and values the individuals within the group, whilst taking responsibility for their own psychological safety. This is further enhanced through students developing the core conditions of empathy, congruence and unconditional positive regard, as described by Carl Rogers.

Students are taught alongside students on the Postgraduate Diploma Counselling and Psychotherapy and the MA Integrative Counselling course. Learning and teaching activities will sometimes be differentiated from the level 7 students to support the development of level 5 academic skills and provide guidance on assessments.

As part of the course, students undertake a placement of 100 hours of supervised practice with adult clients (aged over 16). Students undertake external training supervision that meets BACP requirements. Students also undertake at least 20 hours of external personal therapy, which provides students with first-hand experience as a client, and they can then link this insight back to their theoretical grounding and research. Placements, external supervisors and personal therapists are, normally, taken from a University approved list. Students also attend internal supervision as part of the Therapeutic Process and Supervision module.

There is an emphasis on the practical application of theory to a working environment and on the opportunity for students to think about, discuss, and where possible, relate theory to practice. Students gain an understanding of Relational framework theory and practice and learn how to apply their therapeutic counselling and psychotherapy skills with clients. Through supervised practice, students identify their strengths and areas for development, ensuring they become a capable and self-reflective practitioner.

Formally integrated into the professional training is the BACP's 2021 Online and phone therapy (OPT) training curriculum. This is constituted out of eleven subject areas which are covered across the six core clinical modules associated with this course. The various items in the curriculum have been interwoven into existing teaching and learning scheduling and activities and represent a triangulation of existing theory and skills with the differences presented to practice when working in online and phone therapy media. This expansion is driven by a dual commitment: enhancing the accessibility of therapeutic services for clients and responding to the changing landscape of psychotherapy practice in the 21st century.
