Course Overview

This course develops and extends your art practice to enable you to operate in wider professional fields as an independent practitioner and thinker. It supports your ambitions in developing advanced technical and theoretical skills, and in identifying appropriate professional contexts and audiences, as well as selecting modes of presentation, display and dissemination for your artwork. The course emphasises ongoing testing and experimentation to develop a robust and sustainable art practice, and you are encouraged to work across a range of artistic media, including drawing, painting, sculpture, print, assemblage, performance, video, photography, installation, audio and VR/AR.

The course supports you to deepen and refine your understanding and evaluation of the critical ideas driving your practice, and to position yourself with confidence within wider global theoretical and professional contexts of current art practices. You take greater control over your learning through co-created seminar content, where you set the agenda for studio discussions, based on the specific interests arising from your individual practice, as well as exploring points of commonality and intersection with the practices of your peers.

Through collective studio-based and display-oriented activities, you address the role and function of group and collaborative forums, as crucial frameworks mirroring the professional contexts of the creative industries. The course supports you to consider in detail and depth the relevant audiences for your artworks, and to assess critically the effectiveness of models drawn from the wider context of the professional art world. You self-organise with your peers in producing promotional materials relating to your final public event, in printed or online form, demonstrating key professional skills in working collaboratively to create a group identity which also encompasses your individual art practice.

Engagement: Active engagement, responsiveness, and resilience are key to overcoming challenges and achieving success. We support you in staying engaged and motivated, even in the face of adversity. By building your confidence and resilience, you can navigate obstacles and continue to thrive.

Change: By integrating ethical and sustainable practices into the way we work, we aim to minimise our environmental impact. We are committed to social justice, and using our creative skills to promote fairness, equality, and respect for all individuals.

Belonging: Our commitment to equality, diversity, and inclusion is embedded in every aspect of our delivery. We strive to create an environment where everyone feels valued and respected, regardless of their background or identity. By fostering a culture of inclusivity and respect, we ensure that all voices are heard and that everyone has the opportunity to succeed.

Each module acts as an overarching framework for embedded projects that focus on the development of studio practice, contextual studies, and professional skills. Taught sessions will include lectures, workshops, seminars, and tutorials.

Through studio practice modules, you will learn ways in which to take an iterative approach through the exploration and testing of creative and technical concepts and processes. Through creative risk taking and ideas generation, you will develop skills in reflective practice through documentation and annotation, and the confidence to be proactive in your independent learning.

Lectures will facilitate your understanding of key cultural, social, and historical issues, and awareness of responsible, ethical, and socially engaged practices.

Your awareness of the industry and skills for employability will be supported by industry professionals through, for example, visiting practitioners, live projects, and industry visits.

Seminars and workshops will teach processes involved with selecting and evaluating information from a range of perspectives, critically analysing images, objects, information, and texts, and developing the principles of academic writing to essays and reports. You will understand how to research effectively, and why it is important.

Seminars and tutorials will support development of presentation techniques, and your organisational and project planning skills.

The notional hours of each module include a requirement for independent study which takes a blended approach to guided independent study through Learning Support Specialist support, and your own self-managed study.

Courses within the Art and Design subject area make use of MyBeckett and the bespoke VLE, CAGD. A new digital space is under development, which will allow for the 'live', individual and changing nature of learning to be captured. AI will support us to bring together multiple feedback moments and filter them into a 'learning map' for students and staff. It will track key learning moments and support our students to navigate and connect their whole learning journey. It will be a progress record for staff, who will be able to see learning beyond the confines of a module and identify points of supportive intervention, as and when required. This development will work with existing platforms.

Your modules

This information is correct for students progressing through the programme within standard timescales. Option modules listed are indicative of a typical year. There may be some variance in the availability of option modules. Students who are required to undertake repeat study may be taught alternate modules which meet the overall course learning outcomes. Details of module delivery will be provided in your timetable.

Assessment and Scheduled Learning and Teaching Activities

The assessment balance and overall workload associated with this course are calculated from core modules and typical option module choices undertaken by students on the course. They have been reviewed and confirmed as representative by the Course Director, but applicants should note that the specific option choices students make may influence both assessment and workload balance.

A standard module equates to 600 notional learning hours, which may be comprised of teaching, learning and assessment, any embedded placement activities and independent study. Modules may have more than one component of assessment.

Assessment

Level 7

This course is assessed predominantly by coursework, including practical assessments and critical writing.

Indicative Inclusive Assessment Information:

Learning Outcomes will be mapped against a 'body of work' made up of different projects and responses, produced over the duration of the module. This allows for a more rounded view of performance, across a range of work and longer timeframe. It is more reflective of the creative process and the interrelated skills you will develop. It also embraces the integration of practice, contexts and professional skills which is key to our delivery. Opportunities for formative feedback are woven throughout your learning, in the form of group and individual tutorials, critiques, presentations (in-person, pre-recorded) and a plethora of reflective processes appropriate to individual specialisms. You will be able to track your progress through your 'living assessment profile', where feedback and reflection will be captured throughout this module. Approximately halfway through the module you will take part in a 'student progress review': this is a supportive, codesigned process to support your learning journey. The holistic and inclusive nature of assessment means that you will submit a 'body of work' that is appropriate to your subject. Your specialist project brief will outline the options for what can be submitted, see examples below.

A body of work: this may include a number of creative and/or contextual outcomes, supported by research, analysis and developmental work, in response to specialist project briefs.

Examples:

Research and development work: to support your ideas and learning journey

Final work: this can take many different forms and will be detailed in your project brief

Written work: up to an indicative word count of 2000 words or equivalent for this module (this may include writing in different forms, i.e. Critical Study, essays, creative writing, reports and reflective journal entries)

Presentations: a choice of live or pre-recorded will always be given

Research and development films: research videos up to a length of 4 minutes for this module

Photo/visual essay: visual research captured through imagery

Living assessment record: your digital learning and assessment record

Student progress review: learning opportunity to review and discuss progress
