Course duration

If you are made an offer of a place on the course, your offer letter will include the start date.

This course can be studied:

3 years full-time

4 years full-time with a placement year

6 years part-time

Part-time study

This course can be studied part-time.

If you study the course part-time, it will usually take twice as long to complete compared with the equivalent full-time course. The modules may be delivered in a different sequence than on the full-time course, but you will study the same modules at each academic level. With the agreement of the course team, you may be able to increase your pace of study to shorten the overall course duration.

Work placement

This course includes an optional placement year. If you opt to undertake a full year placement and this is completed successfully you will have the words 'with placement year' added to the award title including for any contained awards that you are eligible for.

Students are responsible for obtaining their own placement, with assistance from the University. Whilst students source their own placements, they will need to meet requirements which will be outlined before module enrolment.

The locations will vary, dependent on the opportunity.

Entry requirements

Admissions criteria are available on the online prospectus entry for this course.

If you have previous relevant qualifications or experience, you could be exempt from certain parts of your course. Recognition of prior learning (RPL) allows you to start your course at a point appropriate to the learning and skills that you may have developed in a professional, vocational or community setting.

Timetable

You will receive your full timetable for the year during induction week.

What you will study

Course aims

The aim of the course is to engage, enable and challenge our students to become creative, entrepreneurial, and critically informed dynamic graduates who can excel in their chosen field of work or study within hospitality business management. Central to our course are the strong links between theory and practice, work-based learning, with carefully designed authentic assessments and student-tutor interaction at the heart of the student experience.

Teaching and learning activities

The teaching methods used throughout the course are diverse and include lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops, practical experiences and work based learning. This variety of teaching methods is designed to enhance student achievement, satisfaction and employability, ensuring our students are prepared to join graduate programmes with hospitality organisations locally, nationally and internationally.

A 'safe' learning environment is provided throughout the course, but especially at Level 4. Students will be encouraged to experiment in their learning and challenge themselves whilst they have extensive support given by Module Leaders, tutors and Academic Advisers.

Course structure

This information is correct for students progressing through the course within standard timescales. If you have to repeat study or take time out during your course, you may be taught alternative modules which meet the overall course learning outcomes.
