ABOUT US

The Carnegie Centre for Excellence for Mental Health in Schools has been established to strengthen the mental health of the next generation by supporting schools, sixth forms and further education colleges to make a positive change at all levels of the UK's education system, thereby improving outcomes and life chances. This partnership between The Carnegie School of Education at Leeds Beckett University and Minds Ahead is focused on evidence-based solutions which address schools' needs; the development of a professional community of school mental health experts; and leading innovation within the area.

Our aim is to work with schools, organisations and professionals committed to ensuring that mental health difficulties do not limit success at school and beyond.

We have created a range professional programmes specifically designed to help staff to develop a range of strategies to improve and manage staff and pupils mental health across a Sixth form or Further Education College

Further Education Mental Health Award

The Department for Education recognises the direct link between positive mental health and successful educational outcomes; the Further Education Mental Health Award builds on this link and provides a framework for educational institutions to evidence policies and initiatives that work towards improving emotional health and wellbeing for both staff and students.

The award ensures sixth form and further education colleges are using evidence-based approaches that align to professional and government guidelines. Using a developmental framework, you will evaluate current mental health practices, identify gaps, develop and strengthen these and work towards building an emotionally healthier environment. Through this process, you commit to making mental health a strategic priority and developing a positive culture that promotes mental wellbeing for everyone.

What does the School Mental Health Award cover?

The award takes a whole sixth form and further education colleges approach to mental health and covers eight key areas, each with a series of statements that you will use to self-evaluate their current practice.

The eight areas are:

- Leadership and strategy
- Organisational structure and culture – staff
- Organisational structure and culture – students
- Support for staff
- Support for students
- Staff professional development and learning
- Working with parents and carers
- Working with external services

Why attain the award?

- Improves pupil and staff self-confidence, resilience and mental health.
- Improves pupil outcomes.
- Creates a culture of awareness of mental health, tolerance and acceptance, helping to reduce behavioural problems and promotes positive mental health strategies.

- Increases staff retention rates and attracts high calibre staff.
- Demonstrates commitment to adhere to professional and government guidance.

How much does the award cost and how long is it valid for?

The award costs £395 excluding VAT and lasts for three years, after which you can apply for re-assessment to maintain your level or strive for higher quality standards.
