Any particular strengths or distinctive or innovative features in relation to learning, teaching and assessment.

The programmes were designed very well and in particular the dissertation module was well developed. We communicated very well and the administrator kindly remind me the process and meeting dates. The materials like sample dissertations, feedback sheets and students' profiles were prepared very well. External examiners can access the virtual learning materials and have an overview of the programmes.

(a) The operation and conduct of the Progression and Award Board (and/or Module Board meeting you may also have attended).
The Progression and Award boards were organised very well. I really appreciate the kind help that the administrators gave me and the detailed instructions on my travel and parking.

(b) The action, if any was required, taken in response to your report of last year. (This will not be relevant if you are examining for the first time.)
N/A

(c) The overall performance of the students, in relation to that of comparable levels of work in other institutions.
Students made good achievement comparing with those in other institutions like Hertfordshire, Glasgow, Edinburgh Napier and Teesside universities.

(d) The strengths and weaknesses of the students in general with respect to knowledge, conceptual grasp or application of skills.
Students can understand relevant knowledge, made critical discussion on the concepts and theories and applied appropriate techniques and tools in practice.

(e) The standards of the structure, organisation, design and marking of all examination papers and/or other forms of assessment.

The structures of the programmes are appropriate and the dissertation module was well organised and assessed, for example, the well-structured first and second markers' feedback sheets.

(f) The curriculum, teaching or resourcing of the programme of study as indicated by the performance of the students in the assessment.

Students' performance showed that they were well supervised and directed and provided with good facilities and resources.

(g) Comments on the use of My Beckett (Virtual Learning Environment) within the course (if applicable).

Virtual learning is a good way of communication and helpful for providing learning resources and teaching materials. In the future we can use the website for external examiners and do not need to post the hard copies or send the scanned files.

(h) Module content, consistency of modules and module assessment across the course and the achievement of learning outcomes. (You may be asked by your School to provide detailed comments on the modules that you examine.)

The postgraduate dissertation module was well designed and feasible learning outcomes were clearly proposed and assessed. The comments and advice were helpful for students to conduct further academic or practice research in the future. Students' good performance shows that the learning outcomes achieved.

(i) Areas of student/staff engagement in teaching and learning, scholarship, research or professional practice.

With module tutors' and supervisors' help students were able to choose suitable research topics and feasible aims and objectives. Empirical studies were conducted in their dissertations and the learning outcomes were well achieved.
