Areas of good practice
Any particular strengths or distinctive or innovative features in relation to learning, teaching and assessment.
The course includes an excellent range of different types of assessment which helps students develop a range of academic and transferable skills. Also, there is a good focus on different careers in psychology which is neatly linked to PDPs. Students generally achieve very good standard, which is a testament to the quality of the teaching.

(a) The operation and conduct of the Progression and Award Board (and/or Module Board meeting you may also have attended).
I did not attend the meetings face-to-face but was available to be contacted during the Progression and Award Board meetings. Thus, most of the communication with the School' Department was via e-mail or phone and much of the PAB business was conducted in advance of the meeting.

(b) The action, if any was required, taken in response to your report of last year. (This will not be relevant if you are examining for the first time.)
This is my first year as External Examiner

(c) The overall performance of the students, in relation to that of comparable levels of work in other institutions.
The standard is comparable to that of other institutions with a similar postgraduate offer. Given that this is an online course, and involves learning by distance, the performance of students is especially impressive.

(d) The strengths and weaknesses of the students in general with respect to knowledge, conceptual grasp or application of skills.
The students' work is of a high standard. The course covers an impressive range of topics, allowing students to achieve a high standard in both conceptual grasp and skills. It is good to see a focus on employability skills and PDP as well.

(e) The standards of the structure, organisation, design and marking of all examination papers and/or other forms of assessment.

All these aspects of assessment are of a high standard and follow established practices in other HE institutions.

(f) The curriculum, teaching or resourcing of the programme of study as indicated by the performance of the students in the assessment.

These are all of a high standard, which is reflected in the students' overall performance.

(g) Comments on the use of My Beckett (Virtual Learning Environment) within the course (if applicable).

The MyBeckett VLE platform presents the material clearly, although given the advances in IT technology in recent years, there are more effective educational platforms, which allow greater interactivity and better navigation. However, the VLE, on the whole, works well.

From the perspective of External examiner, I found the VLE relatively easy to use, although I found that the location of the EE files was not consistent across modules, nor was the way in which they were presented. Uniformity would be welcome, but I appreciate that this might not always be practicable.

(h) Module content, consistency of modules and module assessment across the course and the achievement of learning outcomes. (You may be asked by your School to provide detailed comments on the modules that you examine.)

I provided detailed reports for the modules I examined. Overall, there is satisfactory consistence in assessment across the modules, and the assessment is clearly linked to learning outcomes for the modules.

(i) Areas of student/staff engagement in teaching and learning, scholarship, research or professional practice.

Recommended sample sizes at Leeds Beckett University are as follows: a) Samples should be determined by a square root of cohort size, no smaller than 6, no larger than 15. However it should be borne in mind that not all work is assessed in a way that makes a square root sample possible and allowance should be made. For example in subjects such as the performing arts where there may be a requirement for an external to come and view a performance instead, or to visit the exhibition of art work. b) Samples to include all classification categories, and it is helpful to concentrate around the boundaries to include some fails. c) Samples to consist of internally moderated work, clearly evidencing the moderation process.
