Check In

Thank you for booking onto an Applicant Day. This is a fantastic opportunity to explore your course in more detail and meet your future course-mates. When you arrive on the day, please remember to check in on Level 1 in the Rose Bowl at City Campus where we will give you details about your course sessions and will answer any questions you might have. Our check-in desk is open from 09:30 - please try to arrive around 30 minutes before your first activity.

Nutrition

Session	Start	Finish
Nutrition Today During this session the course team will give you a flavour of some of the current nutrition issues that we teach within the course and how these relate to current messages, as well as discussing the placements and future job roles you might have. Some of the current issues we face in nutrition are rising rates of obesity and diabetes. You may be working directly in these areas of public health during your placement, or, alternatively, you may choose to undertake a placement in the food production or retail industry. This overview will give you the insights into nutrition in today's world and how you can make a difference.	10:00	10:45
Your Learning Spaces Our nutrition course is science-based with a lot of practical learning taking place in our biomedical science and catering laboratories. During this session, our course team will take you round both of these labs to give you a feel of where you'll be learning. Our nutrition catering labs give students the opportunity to understand how meals can be modified. This includes adapting recipes according to current recommendations for fat and sugar, preparing specialist foods such as gluten-free products, and understanding the ingredients and basis for multicultural diets. As a nutrition student you will acquire laboratory skills, undertake assays, and practice glucose measurement for conditions such as diabetes in our purpose-built, modern biomedical science laboratories.	10:45	11:15
